Today's Preview: The Clinton LumberKings (A, Mariners) meet the Dayton Dragons (A, Red) for the first and only time this season with the first game of a three-game series. In the two teams' only meeting, at Ashford University Field in Clinton, in 2017 the LumberKings won a three-game series, 2-1. The LumberKings trail the all-time series, dating back to 2000, 50 to 52. Since Clinton has been affiliated with the Seattle Mariners (2009) they trail the head-to-head matchups 14 games to 15.

LumberKings Starter: Oliver Jaskie, 22, makes his fifth start of the season for the LumberKings. The lefty was hit hard his last time out and failed to make it through the third inning against the Beloit Snappers in Beloit. Jaskie allowed six runs, three earned, on six hits while walking three and striking out three in what was the shortest start of the season by a LumberKings pitcher to that point of the season. In his previous start, Jaskie set a team high for innings pitched with a seven-shutout inning performance against the Wisconsin Timber Rattlers at Neuroscience Group Field in Grand Chute, WI. He avoided taking the loss his last time out thanks to the LumberKings largest come from behind effort of the season, turning a five-run deficit into an 8-6 win that would lead to a series win.

Dragons Starter: Adrian Rodriguez, 21, makes his season debut for the Dayton Dragons. The Mexican native has not appeared in a professional game since the 2016 season when he pitched in the Pioneer League with the Billings Mustangs. The righty signed as a free agent with the Cincinnati Reds on June 14 and has pitched in the 2015 and 2016 season before missing all of 2017. In two seasons as a professional, he is 7-4 with a 3.66 ERA splitting his time between a bullpen arm and a starter. He has made 21 appearances as a pro, 12 as a starter. Rodriguez's last start came on July 29, 2016 versus Great Falls and lasted just 2.2 innings.

Last Time Out: For the second straight night, the Clinton LumberKings surrendered a big first inning and failed to overcome it in an 8-3 loss to Bowling Green Hot Rods on Thursday night at Ashford University Field. Clinton (14-9) starter Ray Kerr lasted just one third of an inning in the shortest start by a LumberKings pitcher this season. Bowling Green (15-11) batted around in the first inning sending 10 men to the plate and scoring five runs. The big hit in the inning belonged to Ronaldo Hernandez who cleared the bases with a grand slam to left, his first home run of the season. Kerr (0-2) was removed three batters later when the Hot Rods reloaded the bases. For the second straight game, the LumberKings starting pitcher turned in the shortest start of the season. Ariel Sandoval factored into all three of the LumberKings run scoring rallies. In the bottom of the first, he singled up the middle to score Joseph Rosa. In the sixth inning, Sandoval walked to lead-off the inning and scored three batters later on a Ryan Costello sacrifice fly to right. The LumberKings final run of the night was plated in the seventh on an RBI groundout by Sandoval.

Long Man Chandler: Clay Chandler saved the night for the LumberKings on Thursday. After Ray Kerr lasted just 1/3 of an inning, Chandler turned in the longest outing by a reliever this season. The Kentucky native broke his own previous season-high for relief innings pitched and has also been used as a spot starter for the LumberKings this season.

Newly Minted .300 Hitter: The LumberKings regular cleanup hitter this season, Jack Larsen, continued to swing a hot bat for Clinton with a three-hit night on Thursday. Larsen has been on a tear as of late and is batting .385 (15/39) over his last 10 games, the highest average on the team over that stretch. He also collected 13 RBI over his last 10 games, giving him 20 on the season, the fourth most in the Midwest League.

Not a Warm Reception: Clinton LumberKings fans made their displeasure known regarding the adoption of Minor League Baseball's rule for extra innings. In the first LumberKings extra inning game of the season, fans saw for the first time each extra half inning begin with a runner at second base. They booed in the top of the tenth when the rule was announced, placing a Hot Rod at second, and they booed in the bottom of the inning when again the rule was announced placing a LumberKing at second.

Good Riddance: The start to interdivision play has not been kind to the LumberKings who were swept for the first time this season in the three-game meeting with the Bowling Green Hot Rods. The sweep marked the third time in franchise history that the Hot Rods have swept the LumberKings, all coming at Ashford University Field. Clinton is now 3-12 all-time versus Bowling Green at home.

Roster Move: Another negative moment in the lopsided in the loss on Thursday night was an injury to LumberKings reliever David Gerber. The righty worked 1.1 innings out of the bullpen before grabbing his right throwing shoulder and having to be removed from the game. As expected, the injury has led to the LumberKings second roster move of the season. Gerber will be placed in the disabled list while former LumberKing Kyle Wilcox will be assigned to Clinton for his third time.

Doing the Heavy Lifting: The last run through the starting rotation for the Clinton LumberKings has not been a good one. The starting staff has set new season lows for shortest starts of the year on three separate occasions. Ray Kerr recorded just one out in Thursday night's loss forcing the bullpen to work the final 8.2 innings. The disparity in innings pitched has led to the bullpen passing the starting rotation for innings worked. The bullpen has logged 201 innings compared to the starting rotation's 200 innings of work.

This date in baseball history: On this date in 1919, a SRO crowd attends the first-ever major league game played on a Sunday in Brooklyn. The Ebbets Field contest, in which the Dodgers beat the Braves, 6-2, was made possible when the New York Legislature passed the Sunday Baseball Bill into law.

Broadcast Information: Erik Oas returns for his second season as the "voice" of LumberKings baseball. All games will be broadcast live on 100.3 FM WCCI and online at LumberKings.com via the TuneIn Radio App.
